

THE ANARCHIST ASSASSIN DEAD.

The Electric Current was Sent Through Him This Morning.

Awakened from a Sound Sleep

At Half-past Five This Morning and the Death Warrant Read to Him. The Wretched Murderer Expressed No Regret at the Crime He Had Committed and Died Without Receiving Spiritual Consolation.

Special by Wire to Times-Democrat.
AUBURN, N. Y., OCT. 29.—LEON F. CZOLGOSZ, ALIAS FRED NIEKXAN, WAS SUCCESSFULLY ELECTROCUTED AT AUBURN PRISON THIS MORNING. HE WAS PRO-NOUNCED DEAD AT 7:16:15 A. M. WITH PURELY ANIMAL COURAGE THAT HAD SUSTAINED HIM AND WITH THE INNATE COWARD WITHIN HIM STRUGGLING TO HIS LIPS, THE YOUTHFUL MURDERER RATED BY THE NATION AND THE WORLD AT LARGE, PAID THE PENALTY FOR HIS CRIME. HE TOOK THE CHAIR AT 7:15, AND IN LESS TIME THAN IT TAKES TO TELL IT, THE DEADLY CURRENT HAD PASSED THROUGH HIS BODY RUBBING OUT HIS MISERABLE EXISTENCE WITH MERCIFUL AND UNERRING SWIFTESS. SEATED IN THE CHAIR WITH THE FATAL CURRENT ABOUT TO BE APPLIED CZOLGOSZ FACING THE WITNESSES SAID:

IS NOT SORRY
For The Cowardly Crime Which He Committed in Killing McKinley.
"I SHOT THE PRESIDENT BE-CAUSE I THOUGHT IT WOULD BRING GOOD WORKING PEOPLE
OF ALL THE NATIONS. I AM NOT
SORRY FOR MY CRIME." DUR-ING THIS TIME THE ATTENDANTS WERE BUSY STRAPPING HIM TO THE CHAIR.

SCORNEO SPIRITUAL AID
And Said That He Wanted No One to Pray For His Soul.

HIS LAST WORDS WERE: "I AM HEARTILY SORRY I DID NOT SEE MY FATHER." THIS WAS SAID AFTER THE STRAP HAD BEEN DRAWN ACROSS HIS FACE.
YET HIS WORDS WERE HEARD
DISTINCTLY BY ALL THE WIT-NESSES IN THE ROOM. HE WENT TO HIS DEATH UNSUP-PORTED BY THE COMFORTING
THOUGHT THAT HE HAD MADE
PEACE WITH HIS GOD. FOR THE
FIRST TIME IN THE HISTORY OF
THE PRISON THE CONDEMNED
MAN MARCHED TO THE FATAL
CHAIR UNACCOMPANIED BY A SPIRITUAL ADVISER. SPIRIT-UAL AID HAD BEEN OFFERED
HIM, BUT HE SCORNEO ENTREAT-
MENTS, AND SAID HE WANTED NO ONE TO PRAY FOR HIS SOUL.

HE SLEPT SOUNDLY
During the Night and Was Awakened
From a Sound Sleep.

THE ASSASSIN WAS AWAKEN-ED FROM A SOUND SLEEP AT 5:30
AND THE DEATH WARRANT READ
TO HIM. HE LISTENED WITHOUT EMOTION AND AFTER EATING
SPARINGLY OF BREAKFAST, PRE-PARED FOR THE DEATH CHAIR.
HE CAME IN WITHOUT A TREMOR
AND TOOK HIS PLACE, SAYING
NOTHING BEYOND THE REMARKS QUOTED.

ALL ORGANS NORMAL.
An Autopsy Was Performed on Body
of the Murderer Today.
AFTER THE BODY WAS TAKEN
FROM THE CHAIR, AN AUTOPSY WAS PERFORMED UNDER SUPER-VISION OF DR. McDONALD.
THE AUTOPSY SHOWED CZOL-GOSZ'S BRAIN TO BE IN A PER-FECTLY NORMAL CONDITION. IT WAS ABOVE THE AVERAGE IN WEIGHT, AND FORMATION AND SHOWED NOT THE SLIGHTEST
LESION. THE DOCTORS SAY THAT EVERY ORGAN IN THE BODY WAS IN A NORMAL CONDITION AT THE TIME OF HIS DEATH.

SUCCESSFUL EXECUTION
As Viewed From an Artistic and Mechanical Standpoint.

The execution, from an artistic and mechanical standpoint, was a complete success. Within a few minutes after the current had been turned on the physicians announced that the assassin's spirit had winged its flight into eternity. Only the number prescribed by law witnessed the execution. Czolgosz was dressed in a very simple manner for the death chair, a pair of black trousers, a loose gray shirt and a pair of gray socks completing the outfit. He wore no under-garments and no shoes. The left leg of the trousers was slit at the bottom to permit the free adjustment of the electrode, and the shirt was open at the neck. The plan of burning his clothes and papers was carried out immediately after the execution.

Czolgosz showed no strength of love for kin, nor did he turn to any of those higher considerations which ordinarily claim the thoughts of men occupying his position. He may have suffered untold torture, but, outwardly, he seemed sullen and indifferent. The state is not to surrender possession of his body, and by sundown it will have been secretly interred in ground controlled by the officials of Auburn prison.

Czolgosz during the night had his last interviews with Superintendent Collins and with his brother and brother-in-law. Both of the interviews were brief and the interviewers did most of the talking until the question of religion was mentioned, when Czolgosz broke from his seeming lethargy and violently denounced the church and the clergy and made his relatives promise that there should be no service for him, living or dead.

When the brother and brother-in-law arrived Superintendent Collins took them down to the condemned man's cell. There was no demonstration when they met. Czolgosz merely stopped to the front of his steel cage
and said, "Hello."

The brother ventured the remark:
"I wish you would tell us, Leon, who got you into this scrape." The assassin answered in a slow, hesitating manner: "No one. Nobody had anything to do with it but me."
"That is not how you were brought up," said the brother, "and you ought to tell us everything now."

"I haven't anything to tell," he answered, in a surly manner.

"Do you want to see the priests again?" asked his brother. He answered with more vehemence than he had previously shown: "No, damn them; don't send them here again; I don't want them."

The brother-in-law interjected here:
"That's right, Leon."
The brother looked rather disturbed
by the answer. Then stepping up close to the bars, the condemned man said: "And don't you have any praying over me when I'm dead. I don't want it. I don't want any of their religion."

There was a painful pause of a few minutes and then the relatives resumed casual conversation with him,
to which he replied in monosyllables
until the brother-in-law suggested,
much to Superintendent Collins' surprise, that he and the brother be permitted to witness the execution. Before the superintendent could reply, Leon Czolgosz said: "Yes, Mr. Superintendent, let them see me killed." Superintendent Collins led the trio in emphatic terms that no such thing could be allowed, and ordered them to say goodby.

The body of Czolgosz was not removed from Auburn. Superintendent of State Prisons Cornelius V. Collins and Warden J. Warren Mead, after hours of controversy with Czolgosz's brother, succeeded in obtaining from him the following relinquishment of the family claims to the remains of the assassin: "I hereby authorize you, as warden of Auburn prison, to dispose of the body of my brother, Leon F.
Czolgosz, by burying it in the cemetery attached to the prison, as provided by the law of the state of New York. This request is made upon the express understanding that no part of the remains will be given to any person or society, but that the entire body will be buried in accordance with the law in the cemetery attached to the prison."

His Last Night.
When Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald
and Prison Physician Gerin visited the cell during the evening they found the prisoner suffering from extreme nervousness that manifested itself in dilated eyes and free-flowing perspiration. When they finished the examination the prisoner turned sullenly
from them and retired into the corner of his cell, refusing to talk. They gave him no treatment, and were of the opinion that, while he was very nervous, he did not show signs of absolute collapse. Czolgosz had just concluded a lengthy interview with Fathers Fudinski and Hickey. The approach of death seemed to awaken
no greater consciousness of his position. He again turned his back upon the priests who came to urge him to confess and repent, and was undemonstrative in the presence of those of his kin who came to say a last farewell to him.

When alone with his guards he remained silent, and passed the time either lying on his bunk or in slowly pacing up and down the cell. He talked, when addressed, to those admitted near his cell, but with his old deliberation and slowness. If he knew strong emotion at any time he was successful in concealing it from those who watched over him.

The prison guards combatted the suggestion that his stolidity was a daze of fear and that the hour of execution would find him helplessly broken down. The prisoner suffered no loss of appetite and ate the usual allowance of food given to prisoners.
Throughout his entire confinement he has had a good appetite, and his physical condition has been excellent. He weighed about 155 pounds, which was thought to represent a slight gain
since his arrest.

Walter N. Thayer, former warden of Danzemora prison, who was requested by Superintendent Collins to assist and advise Warden Mead during the execution, arrived and inspected the death chamber and chair, and suggested an improvement from the latter,
which was made at once. He found that the bars of the back of the chair

were rather far apart, and expressed the opinion that an upright backboard placed inside the bars would strengthen the grip of the straps upon the body of the condemned man. The suggestion was adopted. While Thayer was inspecting the chair, Electrician Davis again lifted the switch and sent the electric current through it in final test. Davis also placed new sponges on the head and leg electrodes. The autopsy table was wheeled into the room adjoining the death chamber. Under orders from the warden a coffin was also prepared. The latter is of plain pine, stained black.

CONSUMED BY QUICKLIME.
The Remains of the Murderer Have Been Entirely Annihilated.

The remains of Czolgosz have been interred in the prison plot and before 10 o'clock tonight, the prison authorities say they will have been entirely consumed with quick lime. No mound marks the place of the body and there is nothing to indicate that Czolgosz ever lived.

Senator Hear's Reasons.
Worcester, Mass., Oct. 29.—Mayor
Philip J. O'Connell sent to the city council the letter of Senator George F. Hear, asking to be permitted to decline the invitation to eulogize President McKinley. It reads: "I think the eulogy on the president should be delivered by some person who was in full accord with him upon the principle political measure of his administration. I never questioned his absolute sincerity; his devotion to the public welfare, his love of liberty and his desire to do his duty as God gave him to see it. I was fully in accord with him on the great fiscal measures with which he was identified. But as you know, I differed with him and his administration—and my opinion on that subject has been strengthened and not weakened in the lapse of time—in regard to his policy in dealing with the Philippine Islands."

tinues Enormous.

Grows Brighter With Each Day
He is on the Stand.

Washington, Oct. 29.—The cross-examination of Admiral Schley is on before the court of inquiry. After Schley concludes two other witnesses will be called in his behalf. Admiral Barker and Captain Thomas Borden.
The latter was an officer of the marine corps aboard the Brooklyn. The judge advocate then will call his witnesses in rebuttal, of whom there are understood to be more than 15, and it is probable that Admiral Schley's counsel will call witnesses in sur-rebuttal.

The crowd present, while hardly so large as on Friday last, when Admiral Schley told the story of the battle of Santiago, showed unabated interest in the proceedings. Nothing sensational developed, and the only outburst in the court occurred when Mr. Rayner, Admiral Schley's counsel, objected to a line of inquiry of the judge advocate designed to criticize Admiral Schley's alleged failure to formulate a plan of battle, with the declaration that as Admiral Sampson was in command his junior had no right to plan an order of battle.

Admiral Schley made a statement of the effect of the fire of the respective fleets at Santiago, showing that 36 per cent of the hits suffered by the enemy were scored by the Brooklyn's
5-inch guns, while his ship received
70 per cent of the hits from the Span-

KARG

Comes Back at the Board.

Thirty Days

He Gives for a Final Settlement

And If Matters are Not Adjusted He Will Then Bring Suit.

Board Retains the Salary of Miss Packard Who Has Announced Her Intention to Resign Shortly.

The roll call at the meeting of the board of education last night brought responses from president Sprague, Bates, Clark, Messrs. McClain, Prophet, Donahue, Snyder, Fenwick, Klatte, Miss Disman and Mrs. Vicary. Considerable delay was occasioned by an examination of bills that had been presented and it was after eight o'clock before business proceeded.

The bond of F. E. Wood, signed by Theodore Feist, J. A. Jacobs, E. B. Hardin and A. S. Rudy was accepted, the original bond signed by a surety company having been withdrawn. An agreement was made between Mr. Feist and Mr. Wood as to the deposit of the money paid by the board for the Elizabeth street addition in the City Bank.

There was another chapter introduced in the Karg controversy, a communication from the Findlay contractor informing the board that he would not allow more than $40 for repairs on the Garfield building and that if a settlement of his account was not made within thirty days, he would bring suit. Mr. Prophet arose to the occasion and declared that he for one wished that Mr. Karg would bring suit, so that the public would know just what a miserable excuse of a building he had erected. Mr. Prophet added that Mr. Karg's authorized agent had been here and in his presence an understanding had been had, which Karg interrupted by a letter to the board. It was intended that the building and repairs committee should proceed with the repairs, but Mr. Karg interfered. Mr. Prophet then moved that the committee proceed at once with the repairs under the agreement made with Mr. Karg's agent. The motion carried, and it is now up to Mr. Karg to precipitate a legal war if he desires.

A special committee on redistricting the city reported that no changes would be recommended at this time.

Dr. Bates moved that the building and repairs committee have the cistern at Reece avenue cleaned and a filter put in.

Chairman McClain of the building and repairs committee reported that the repairs at the West building, as suggested by the state inspector would amount to about $4,000. He expressed himself as opposed to making the repairs but added that he wished the inspector had condemned the building.

The matter of appointing a superintendent of construction for the new Elizabeth street and Spring street additions was discussed and Mr. Donahue moved that the architects of the respective buildings, Messrs. Chapin and Leach & Leach be employed, the compensation to be 5 per cent of the cost of construction. Mr. Donahue's motion carried.

In his report, superintendent Miller called attention to the course of lectures which began this evening on "University Extension." Prof. George Emory Fellows, of Chicago University speaks this evening at the Y. M. C. A., his subject being, "The Close of the Century."

Prof. Miller announced that Miss Packard, teacher in the high school had announced her intention to resign soon, and this brought up the discussion again of a teacher being permitted to leave her school at a moment's notice, thus putting the board and the schools to serious inconvenience. A month's notice is required of a teacher who is contemplating giving up her position and on motion it was decided to retain Miss Packard's salary for the month until it could be learned just what her intentions really are.

There is a condition that a great many people get into these days, not sickened, able to be around but never feeling well, weak and the least exertion tucks them out. Chase's Nerve Pills were formulated, they provide the lacking element that is wanted to remove the trouble Nerve Force.

NOT

Exactly a Bed of Roses

Is the Berth

Occupied by Soldiers in the Philippines.

A Word Painting in Which Several of the Comforts are Described

By a Soldier Who Has Returned to His Former Happy State as an American Citizen.

W. T. Carter, formerly a private in Co. H, 2nd Infantry, but now a resident of Rosebud, Texas, has written to his former comrade, Dr. Lane of this city who was a surgeon in the army and in addition to an interesting personal letter, enclosed an article which he recently wrote and had published in a Texas paper. While it bristles with satire, the humorous description has much of truth in it and goes a long way toward describing some of the "mild" inconveniences the boys have gone up against in their Philippine warfare. Mr. Carter heads his article "A Brief Description of the Philippines," and his brevity, while the coil of wit, lengthens out into enough space to suggest a decidedly fertile imagination.

"The Philippines are a bunch of trouble gathered together on the western horizon of civilization. They are bounded on the north by rock and destruction, on the east by typhoons and monsoons, on the south by cannibals and earthquakes and on the west by hoodooism and snugglers. The climate is a combination of electrical changes, adapted especially to raising Cain. The soil is extraordinarily fertile, producing large crops of insurrection and trickery.

"The inhabitants are very industrious, their chief occupation being trench building and the manufacture of bolos and knives and the reloading of Remington cartridges. Their chief amusements are cockfighting, monte-deal, theft and cheating. Their diet consists of boiled rice, stewed rice, fried rice and rice. The "Pono" marriage ceremony is very impressive, especially the clause wherein the wife is given the privilege of working as much as the husband desires. The beast of burden is the carabao. On a three mile journey only ten days rations are required. For a trip of a hundred miles the driver would die of old age before reaching his destination.

"The rivers are serpentine in their course, their currents running in opposition to all laws of gravitation. Manila, the capital and also principal city, is situated on Manila Bay, a large land locked body of water full of fish, sharks and Spanish submarine mines. Cavite, the next city of importance, is noted for its large number of saloons and Chinamen. The principal exports are rice, hemp and war bulletins. The principal imports are American soldiers, arms, ammunition, beer and tobacco. Malaria is so prevalent that on various occasions the island has been shaken with a chill.

"Luzon, the largest group, establishes communication with the numerous islands by substituting the mosquito for the carrier pigeon, the mosquito being much larger and better able to endure the fatigue of the journey. The native costume is a flour sack tied around the waist. Children under 12 years of age wait until the next year for their clothes. The towns are an aggregation of "shacks" full of filth, fleas, cur dogs, cats, horses, pigs, chickens, flies, caribons, bedbugs and the family all sleeping together on terms of equality. The native drink is Bano and is concentrated tarantula juice, cactus juice, barbed wire and lightning.

The Philippines are an appropriate present for a deadly enemy, the natives being friendly only at the point of a gun. The climate is pleasant and healthful for roaches and alligators, scorpions, centipedes and snakes."

NEW GERM IS FOUND.

Discovery May Explain Cause of McKinley's Death.

IT IS A GAS FORMING BACILLUS.

Such Was Noted in the Culture Taken From the Late President's Wound—The Discovery of the New Germ Was Made by a Vienna Bacteriologist.

Professor Gussenbauer, a prominent surgeon at the Vienna university, says the Vienna correspondent of the New York Sun, has announced the discovery of a new bacillus. In a lecture recently he said he had noticed that several operations during which aseptics and antiseptics were carefully watched had not resulted as favorably as anticipated, the process of healing being hindered by so called gas abscesses in the wound.

Bacteriological investigation showed that a new bacillus was the cause. The peculiarities of this organism are that it develops only when oxygen is excluded and generates gases during its growth. The same bacillus was then found on the ceiling and walls of the operating room.

In this connection it is interesting to note that in one of the cultures taken from President McKinley's wound a "gas forming germ of unknown identity" was found.

The Medical Journal of New York publishes in detail the report of the surgeons who attended the late President McKinley, but with its main features the public has already been acquainted through printed summaries of addresses of Drs. Mann and Myer.

The official reports of the autopsy and the bacteriological examination are, however, of timely interest. The autopsy report is signed by Dr. Harvey R. Gaylord, pathologist to the State Pathological Laboratory. Dr. Gaylord says that the search for the bullet was most thorough and painstaking, but in spite of all efforts it could not be found. The autopsy had to be discontinued because the time allotted to it by the family of the late president had already been exceeded. Dr. Gaylord adds:

"As we were satisfied that nothing could be gained by locating the bullet, which had set up no reaction, search for it was discontinued."

Examination of the heart muscle showed that it was affected with well marked fatty degeneration and in some places the muscle fibers showed groups of dark brown granules, demonstrating a diseased condition of the cardiac muscle.

Dr. Gaylord believes that the repair to the stomach wounds had been effective and that the gangrene around these wounds does not seem to have been the result of any well defined cause. He attributes the gangrenous condition of the tissues solely to lowered vitality in the parts. The appearance of the gangrenous tissues, he says, shows that the gangrene took place shortly before death.

There was no leakage of pancreatic fluid into the surrounding tissues. The extensive gangrene of the pancreas seems to have been an important factor in the case, however. Dr. Gaylord says, though it has never been shown how much of this organ must be destroyed to cause death. The diseased condition of the heart muscles shows why the pulse was so frequent and why it did not respond to stimulation at the critical time.

The report of Dr. Matzinger, the bacteriologist, says that a culture taken from the wound during life showed several varieties of germs, but such a showing is rather expected in such cases. There were present two of the ordinary germs of suppuration and one gas forming germ of unknown identity.

As the result of an examination of various tissues and fluids removed post-mortem in very small samples, Dr. Matzinger concludes that "the absence of known pathogenic bacteria, particularly in the gangrenous cavity, warrants the conclusion that bacterial infection was not a factor in the production of the condition found at the autopsy."

A chemical analysis by Dr. Hill of the remaining bullets and of the contents of the cartridge chambers in the assassin's pistol shows no poisonous material thus disposing of the theory of a poisoned bullet.

Duties of Secretary of State. The secretary of state's duties are more comprehensive than those of any other cabinet member, says a writer in The Ladies' Home Journal. At the New Year's reception he presents the entire diplomatic corps to the president. He then returns to his own home and entertains the corps—with its dukes, marquises, counts, viscounts, barons and other nobles—at a magnificent luncheon. With great ceremony he will from time to time personally introduce to the president all new diplomats accredited to this country. He reserves one forenoon in each week for the reception at his office of ministers and charges d'affaires. He also attends to the correspondence between the president and the emperors, kings, sultans and other rulers of foreign states. When a royal child is born, he frames a letter of congratulation to the parent. When a royal personage dies, it is he who dispatches this nation's formal message of condolence. A clerk in the state department copies these polite missives upon large sheets of gilt edge paper in a faultless cursive hand. A messenger takes them to the White House for the president's signature. They are then returned to the secretary of state, who seals them with the great seal of the United States.

HOW THE OREGON FOUGHT

Lieutenant's Graphic Story of Her Part in Santiago Battle.

One of the most graphic bits of description heard at the Schley inquiry was the story told by Lieutenant A. A. Ackerman, who was in command of the after 13 inch turret and the after 8 inch turrets of the Oregon on the day of the battle off Santiago. Describing the beginning of the action he said:

"We closed up the latches and laid out fire hose and immediately turned the guns on the entrance to the harbor. As we passed between the Iowa and the Texas those ships seemed to be practically at anchor. We were going very fast then, and forced draft was covering our quarter deck an inch or more deep with cinders, many of them red-hot. Water was running from every hydrant; we had to keep the decks from burning. At that time the fire of the enemy and of our ships was very heavy. The water was whipped up in all directions; shots flew overhead. I think it was the most exciting time of the whole engagement."

"Just at that time it was reported that the torpedo boats were coming out. I saw two of them come out of the entrance to the harbor and steam close along the shore. One would seem to run a little ahead of the other and the other would catch up, and one turned off a little as if she was going to attack the Gloucester. The Gloucester ran up very close to them. As I could not get my guns to bear on the heavy ships of the enemy, I thought I would try a shot at the torpedo boats. I took my time about it, waited until those boats were lapping and estimated the range as 2,200 yards from the torpedo boats. I fired a 13 inch gun, and when the smoke cleared away I saw one of those boats blow up. I do not claim it was done by my shot. There were several others firing at that time. It is a wonder to me they were not blown up sooner."

M. HUTIN'S NOVEL SCHEME

Plan to Inspect Panama Canal Route From Airship.

To inspect the route of the proposed isthmian waterway from a balloon or flying machine, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Times, is the plan which M. Maurice Hutin, president of the Panama Canal company, is urging before the isthmian canal commission.

French from Paris and the atmosphere of flying machines, M. Hutin is himself convinced that this method is wholly practicable for a study of the topography of the isthmus of Panama and that such an inspection of the proposed canal route would be of inestimable value.

A panorama of photographs might be taken showing minutely every elevation and depression, every hill, slope, ravine and water course and the topography of the entire route. Furthermore, those making the inspection would be removed from the dangers and discomforts of the burning heat, fever and malaria. M. Hutin is said to have impressed several members of the commission with the feasibility of the plan and that a midair view of the situation is the most direct way of ascertaining how much work has been done or how much is left to do. It is not thought likely, however, that the commission as a whole will take the suggestion seriously.

One of the best acts the village council could do would be to enforce the curfew ordinance. To have about three or four score of young boys hanging around street corners till late at night will not bring them up to be men of good habits. No wonder when boys of 15 or under get together and read time novels of all kinds, that some will get it in their heads to run off from home, as two did a few days ago, but they were arrested at Farmington, Ind., and returned home, with one of their fathers, who went after them. No boys under 16 or 18 ought to be on the streets after 7 o'clock unless business calls for it in some manner. This is a matter that should be looked after.

Hygienic Beatitudes.

Blessed are those with a good digestion, for they shall enjoy health. Blessed are those who exercise fresh air, proper food and pure blood, for they are a prophecy of good health, and blessed are those wise monks of old, who, knowing the beatitudes and man's tendency to abuse the good things of life, gathered the vegetable staples of "St. Bernard Vegetable Pills" as an antidote to human life, a preventative against disease and a health-restorer.

A BLOODY RACE RIOT.

Whites and Blacks Clash With Awful Effect in a Louisiana Town.

FOURTEEN PEOPLE BITE THE DUST

Affray Started by a Negro, Who Opened Fire Upon a Constable Without Provocation—A Story of the Battle.

New Orleans, Oct. 25.—Three white men and 11 negroes killed as the result of a race riot is the startling and terrible news from Washington parish. The first news of the riot was brought to Amite City by Cornelius Mixon, who, with his mother, left from near Franklinton. He stated that white men rode into Franklinton at 2 o'clock in the morning asking for help, saying that the negroes were up in arms threatening to exterminate the whites. The scene of the trouble is at or near Balltown, where a negro was burned last week for criminally assaulting a white woman. This was not the cause, however, of the battle in which three white men and 11 negroes were killed and several wounded. Mr. Mixon saw and talked with many men from the scene, and they said more and worse trouble was expected, as armed men were flocking to the scene and it was reported the blacks were equally active in preparing for a battle.

A posse left Franklinton for the scene in charge of Sheriff Simmons, and from all over the country armed men were hurrying to the same place. A Mr. Carter said 100 men were probably under arms in Washington parish. The trouble occurred at a negro camp meeting and the origin, as near as can be ascertained, was as follows:

Creer Lot, a negro, was running a refreshment stand, and a constable, a white man, name not given, went to him and asked for his license. He had none, and became impudent, cursed the constable and defied him. The constable withdrew and obtained assistance. He returned with several white men, when the negro, Lot, rushed out and fired point blank into the crowd, killing Joe Scals and Charles Elliott. The whites returned the fire and killed Lot. Then a negro preacher named Connolly rushed out of a house with gun in hand, attempting to shoot, when he was killed, and his daughter was killed, it is said, accidentally. In the shooting which followed another white man was killed and E. H. Thompson wounded, and seven or eight negroes killed.

Balltown is about 20 miles from Franklinton, in a sparsely settled section. It is isolated and almost entirely cut off from the outside world. Franklinton is 27 miles east of this place and there are no telegraph or telephone lines.

GUN EXPLODED.

Captain and Five Soldiers Wounded While Making a Test.

Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 25.—By an explosion of a Colt's automatic firing gun at Fort Leavenworth, Captain Charles T. Monohor and five men of the Twenty-eighth battery of field artillery were wounded, three severely. The gun, a new one, was being tested, and was allowed to become too hot, and when a shell came into the breach after firing the shell exploded, tearing out the breech, fragments of which struck the injured men. These are the injured: Private Snider, leg, severe; Private Meripholt, arm, severe; Private Rieder, arm, severe; Private Hayes, leg, slight; Captain Monohor, hand burned, wrist injured; Private Jones, hand, slight.

West Indian Sugar Bounties.

London, Oct. 25.—The West India committee has issued a despondent circular announcing that the invitation sent to the United States to participate in the conference on sugar bounties will involve further delay, and that the conference is not likely to assemble this year. "It is difficult to avoid the suspicion," says the circular, "that these constant postponements may be had in view of the impossibility of any legislation affecting bounties until after the beet campaign of 1902-3. If this surmise be correct, the position of some of the West Indian islands promises to be critical."

Father Crowley's Reply.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Rev. Jeremiah J. Crowley, the Catholic priest, two days since excommunicated for his charges against Auxiliary Bishop Muldoon of the Chicago diocese, has given out a copy of a long letter addressed by him to Cardinal Martinielli. He reiterates his charges and refuses to retract them. He also claims that notice of the sentence of excommunication has not been properly served upon him, and asserts that he has been made to suffer for telling of what he declares are the deeds of others.

Advance in Wages.

Pottsville, Pa., Oct. 25.—The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company made a general advance in the wages of the employees at the repair shops in Pottsville and at the storage yards at East Mines. Laborers' wages have been advanced from $1.20 to $1.35 per day, boiler makers from $2.20 to $2.50 per day. The molders received their third advance in a comparatively short time, they now getting $2.80 per day. The advance affects 40 hands.

A Horrible Murder.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—A horrible murder, of which Mrs. Elsie Louise Koeller was the victim, was discovered here. Edward Koeller, the woman's husband, and his brother, William Koeller, were arrested. Mrs. Koeller's throat was cut, her ribs broken, and she was practically disemboweled, evidently, the police say, by kicks.

ESCAPED FROM PRISON

Did an Ohio Lad Under Sentence of Death in the Philippines.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The war department is informed that Pinares Foutz, a soldier, convicted of murder in the Philippines and under sentence of death, has escaped. Foutz was a soldier in the regular army and enlisted from Zanesville, O. He murdered a Filipino woman, and after his conviction the case was taken to the president. It was the only case where in President McKinley approved a death sentence upon an American soldier serving in the Philippines. The execution of Foutz would have taken place some time ago had he not escaped from prison.

Miner Rescued.

Salt Lake City, Oct. 25.—After being entombed in the Highland Boy mine at Bingham, Utah, 61 hours, Charles Nutting was taken out by the rescuing party that has been constantly at work since the cave-in occurred. He was alive, but very weak, when found. The space in which he was imprisoned was so small that he was unable to stand. A plentiful supply of fresh air, however, served to prolong life, and he was taken out. One other man, William Anderson, is still in the mine, and the rescuing party will continue work until he is found.

Chile and Argentine.

Santiago, Chile, Oct. 25.—It is officially asserted here (in view of the warlike rumors published in the British newspapers) that the relations between Chile and Argentine are perfectly tranquil and that there is not the slightest cause for alarm. The existing difficulties will be settled amicably between the two governments. The only disquieting features are the utterances of the newspapers of Buenos Ayres. Nobody here contemplates war between Chile and Argentine.

Troops to Go Back.

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 25.—Governor Beckham, Adjutant General Murray and County Judge Hall of Hopkins county held a long conference here, at the conclusion of which it was announced that troops will be sent back to Hopkins county, but General Murray will go there to look over the situation. Murray said 100 union miners are under arms there, besides the guns turned over to him several weeks ago.

Lawyer a Dead Shot.

Memphis, Oct. 25.—A special from Meridian, Miss., reports the shooting of A. A. Crenshaw, a Newton county farmer, and his 18-year-old daughter, by a lawyer named Foy, who called to serve a writ of attachment. The farmer and his daughter opened fire on the lawyer and he returned the fire. Crenshaw is thought to be fatally hurt, but the girl will recover. Foy escaped injury.

Want Ransom Reduced.

Vienna, Oct. 25.—Mr. Dickinson, United States consul general at Constantinople, has written to Miss Stone at Belitz, requesting her to induce the brigands to consent to reduce the ransom. The Hungarian opposition journal, The Mir, declared that the troops fraternized with the brigands and allowed the latter to escape through the cordon.

Schley For President.

Rich Hill, Mo., Oct. 25.—A Schley club has been formed here by some of Admiral Schley's Democratic admirers. Strong resolutions endorsing him for the next Democratic presidential nomination were passed.

Every candidate on the Democratic ticket, state, district and county, is well worthy of the support of every Democrat in Allen county.

It is difficult to convince the residents of Manila of the superiority of American policemen, who speak neither Spanish nor Tagalog, at $1000 per year, over native policemen who speak both at $200 per year. Those Filipinos are so dense.

The Democrats of every precinct in the county owe it to the candidates on both local and state tickets, and also to posterity to get out every voter who will support their ticket and oppose the grinding process of the great corporations and the lavish and useless expenditure of the people's money.

If any wage-worker has been deceived with the idea that a labor organization can hold its own against a great trust let him learn wisdom from the sad experience of those who have felt the power of the steel trust. The laboring man will find it necessary to use the ballot for the extermination of trusts; he cannot rely upon the strength of any organization, however strong.—The Commoner and Glass-worker.

Chairman Dick, of the Republican state executive committee undertook to run the party politics in the Fayette-Madison joint legislative district. Some time ago he ordered the nomination of Dr. Marchant of Washington C. H. and a rump convention obeyed his command, but this did not suit one Harry M. Daugherty, the Fayette county Republican leader and he overruled Mr. Dick in all respects Monday.

By unanimous vote of the joint election boards of the two counties the name of J. M. Willis, the Daugherty candidate will be placed on the ballots instead of that of Dr. Marchant and thus the merry war goes on between the checkbook chairman and his more astute enemy.

Concerning Allen county's Democratic candidate for state senator the Paulding County Democrat says:

"In the matter of our state senatorial ticket, Mr. Decker is well enough known in Paulding county to let the voters judge for themselves whether he deserves a second term or not. His colleague, Hon. Stephen D. Crites, of Elida, is a farmer and grain merchant of excellent standing. He is a gentleman of education, having a splendid record as a public school teacher, and county examiner in Allen county for a number of years. The Democrats of his own precinct thought so well of him that, although a fierce fight was waged against him for the nomination at the primaries, only one vote was cast for the other candidate in a total of over 800 votes. We can assure the voters of this end of the district that Mr. Crites is an honest, capable gentleman of fine business ability and one who will serve them as senator with honor and distinction."

THE FLAG.

O, my fellow citizens, descendants of those who thought no sacrifice too great in the cause of Liberty, and who desired it not for themselves alone, but for the oppressed of every land, and who made our flag the emblem of freedom! O, comrades of the civil war, who in Freedom's cause followed that flag on many a weary march, stood by it under fire of shot and shell and helped to carry it to victory; let us keep it so pure, its stars and stripes so unstained by wars of conquest or oppression, that every one who carries it will proudly die for it, and God Almighty bless the cause for which it stands!—Col. James Kilbourne.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE SURPLUS.

Congress and the administration are confronted with an overflowing treasury and an annual surplus revenue of more than $70,000,000. With a hoard of gold $350,000,000 in excess of the redemption fund of $150,000,000 and more than $100,000,000 of currency diverted into depository banks to relieve the money congestion, the financial doctors are anxiously considering a remedy.

The political quacks say spend it—and they indicate numerous ways (a big river and harbor bill, an isthmian canal, Pacific cable,) in which the surplus can be "absorbed."

Yet the practice of every other government on earth coincides with the dictates of justice in teaching that the true way to deal with a surplus is to stop it by reducing taxes.

Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation. War taxes perpetuated in time of peace are unjustifiable and oppressive. The surplus producing war taxes should go.

Political Strikers Rewarded.

The Kentucky Republicans are making a great success in their war on women, and they have succeeded in having Mrs. Gertrude Sanders, a widow, removed as postmaster of New-castle, and they have been promised by the powers that be that Miss Marie Boyd, a cripple who has charge of a postoffice in Bourbon county, shall be succeeded by J. C. Montgomery, a storekeeper, and both of the above women are said to be most efficient public servants. But the political strikers of Senator Deboe must be rewarded.

Beer and Civilization.

Civilization is rapidly advancing in Hawaii. The politicians are by the cars, and the first brewery on the islands has been opened with impressive ceremonies. Whether the constitution follows the flag or not, beer seems to be on hand soon after the raising takes place.

The Trusts Win.

The steel strike, whichever way it ends, will be a lasting excuse for the trust to raise prices, so, as is usual, the trust will win any way it goes.

Father and Son.

General Grant was a great man and noted for his silence. His son, General Fred, is bawling to the reporters every chance he gets.

Those Cuban courts and lawyers seem as loath to try Neely and Rathbone as the war department and the attorney general are to have them.

HOW COL. KILBOURNE STANDS.

In the Estimation of the Workingmen Who Personally Know and Respect Him.

AN HONORARY MEMBER OF ORGANIZED LABOR.

Why the Columbus Trades and Labor Assembly and Building Trades Council Offered That Honor on Him.

Columbus, O., Oct. 28. — The reckless managers of the Republican campaign, who hesitate at neither falsehood nor slander, have issued a statement that Colonel James Kilbourne, the Democratic candidate for governor, is the enemy of organized labor and of labor unions. The representatives of union labor in this city authorize the following statement of facts and truth, refuting each and every one of the Republican committee's falsehoods:

In 1899, J. K. Turner, manager of a trust espionage bureau at Cleveland, the home of Senator Hanna, wrote Colonel Kilbourne a letter asking him to contribute money for the purpose of setting spies on the labor congress which met at Detroit, under the call of President Gompers, Dec. 11, 1899. To this letter Colonel Kilbourne responded as follows:

Columbus, O., Nov. 28, 1899. J. K. Turner, Manager The Manufacturers' Information Bureau, American Trust Building, Cleveland, Ohio:

Sir—Your letter of November 22d, received during my absence from home, has just come to my attention. The proposition it contains seems to me so infamous that I shall give the letter and my reply to the public press. We have never engaged spies in our business, and certainly shall not do so against the most defenseless class with whom we have to deal.

Why should not the employees of the trusts organize as well as their employers? In whose prosperity are we most concerned? The people of this country are justly alarmed at the rapid growth of great monopolistic combinations, and none more justly so than their workingmen, who, single-handed, would be the easiest victims of their power. Why should they not organize?

No, we will not pay you $15.00 to have the report of your spies on their secret sessions, and we hope there is not a manufacturer in the land who is so mean and low-spirited as to join in your dirty work.

The Kilbourne & Jacobs Manufacturing Company, JAMES KILBOURNE, President and General Manager.

The estimation in which Colonel Kilbourne is held by the members and leaders of organized labor is shown by the fact that he was unanimously elected an honorary member of the Columbus Trades and Labor Assembly, and the Columbus Building Trades Council, and these bodies, jointly representing organized labor in the city of Columbus, presented him with an engrossed set of resolutions tendering him their heartfelt thanks for his noble defense of their rights, as follows:

"Resolutions unanimously adopted by the Columbus Trades and Labor Assembly and the Columbus Building Trades Council, in recognition of Col. James Kilbourne's defense of the rights of workingmen."

"Whereas, a letter giving evidence of a base conspiracy against organized labor has been received by Col. James Kilbourne, President and General Manager of the Kilbourne & Jacobs Manufacturing Company, of this city, from one J. K. Turner, Manager of the 'Manufacturers' Information Bureau,' of Cleveland, Ohio, seeking the co-operation and support of the aforesaid Colonel Kilbourne in a proposition which said Turner, on behalf of said Information Bureau, agrees, through the operation of a general spy system, to furnish said employers with accounts of the proceedings of secret sessions of organized labor organizations; and

"Whereas, the sterling manhood and instinctive love of justice of Col. Kilbourne in all of his intercourse with his fellow-men, but particularly so in his dealings with workingmen, reviving at a proposition so incompatible with his noble ideals, and so much at variance with his high sense of honor, he expressed himself in response thereto as follows: (See letter as above); and,

"Whereas, such a vigorous repudiation of the aforesaid proposition, and incidentally of all conspiracies against the liberties of workingmen, together with its publication and exposure, coming from such a source, is of inestimable value and benefit to labor's cause:

"Therefore be it resolved, That, on behalf of organized labor of this city of Columbus, this, the Columbus Trades and Labor Assembly, acting in conjunction with the Columbus Building Trades Council, do hereby tender to Col. Kilbourne a heartfelt vote of thanks for his noble defense of our rights and interests in this and other instances too numerous to mention."

"Secondly, That we extend to him a hearty invitation to honor us with his presence at some of our future meetings."

"Thirdly, That a committee be appointed to present Colonel Kilbourne with a copy of these resolutions, bearing the seals of the Columbus Trades and Labor Assembly and the Columbus Building Trades Council, and the signatures of each organization."

"Fourthly, As a further expression of our appreciation and gratitude, the aforesaid Colonel Kilbourne be, and is hereby, elected an honorary member of the aforesaid Columbus Trades and Labor Assembly and the Columbus Building Trades Council."

THE CONTRAST.

Between the Two Candidates and the Parties They Represent.

In his opening speech Governor Nash says: "I shall say nothing about state affairs."

Senator M. A. Hanna said: "This is no time to bring into this contest any of these side issues of state affairs, such as taxation," etc.

Contrast these flippant refusals to discuss the vital questions which affect all the people, with the clear and ringing words of Colonel James Kilbourne, the Democratic candidate for governor, at Bucyrus:

"On the subject of taxation the position of the Democracy is clear and unmistakable. It does not content itself with the general declaration that the burdens of taxation should be equally distributed, but secure in the justice of its demands, and fearless of the power and influence of corporate wealth, it specifically names those who are conspicuous in their avoidance of the public burdens, and insists that they shall be 'assessed in the same proportion to their salable value as our farm and city real estate.'"

"Is there any honest and fair-minded man, to whatever party he may belong, who can dispute the justice of this demand? The platform also provides for sworn public reports and audits which shall make plain to the people the true value of the privileges held by public corporations. Is not this the people's due?"

"The pernicious special legislation enacted by the five Republican legislatures since 1892, insidious and destructive in their character, has loaded communities with additional and unnecessary heavy burdens, and passed the rights of the public over to corporations endowed with privileges no private citizen is entitled to exercise."

"The Democratic party, in its platform, boldly attacks these wrongs and demands their correction not by the destruction of injury of the rights of any man or corporation, but by restoring and maintaining the rights of all, not by unequally distributing the burdens of taxation, but by equalizing them."

"It has but one purpose in view—to so amend and enforce existing laws that every dollar of property value shall bear its proportionate share of the burden, without regard to its form or character, but according to its value alone. It has no purpose or desire to injure the wealthy. It has no intention to permit the oppression of those who are not wealthy. It proposes only exact justice to all."

Here is an issue in which every farmer, laborer, merchant and taxpayer is interested. You are able to tell who is your friend, and who is the friend of the trust and the tax-dodger. It is your absolute duty to go to the polls next Tuesday and cast his vote in his own behalf. He will fall in a high duty if he fails to do so.

ROOSEVELT'S POLICY.

What We May Expect From His Administration.

A VERY ARDENT EXPANSIONIST.

Holds That It Is the Duty of Civilized Nations to Conquer Barbarous Ones—No Revision of Tariff—Strenuous Imperialism and a General Favoring of the Money Power.

It would be perhaps too early to call President Roosevelt an imperialist on what he has said and done in the past because he may become more conservative now that he has assumed the high station and great power of president of the United States. There is no doubt, however, that the president is a very ardent expansionist of the same school as the younger Republican clique in the United States senate, of whom Senators Lodge and Beveridge are choice exponents, and we may fully expect a most strenuous administration of our relations with foreign affairs.

But a few weeks ago Mr. Roosevelt delivered a set address at Minneapolis in which he expounded his views of our hopes and duties as a world power, and he held up the Roman empire as a pattern for this country to copy in dealing with other nations. Combating the opinion of what he termed some "excellent people who believe we can shrink these world duties" and others "who seek to deter us from treading the path of hard but lofty duty by bidding us remember that all nations who have achieved greatness, that have expanded and played their part as world powers, have in the end passed away," he answers this by citing that "the Roman has passed away exactly as all nations of antiquity which did not expand when he expanded have passed away, but their very memory has remained, while he himself is still a living force throughout the wide world in our entire civilization of today and will so continue through countless generations, through untold ages."

Mr. Roosevelt went further than this and said it was the duty of civilized nations to conquer barbarous ones and subdue them to civilization, and claimed this was what we were doing in the Philippines and would have to do elsewhere.

When he was sworn in as president, he took special occasion to say that the policies of the late administration would be fully carried out, so that we may look forward to an even more strenuous imperial policy, reciprocity and no revision of the tariff to control the trusts, ship subsidies and a general favoring of the money power and monopolies and no legislation in the interest of the common people. This is the outlook, but it is to be hoped that President Roosevelt will see more light on at least some of these weighty matters.

THE INJUNCTION MANIA.

One Sided Persecution of Individual Powers of Judges.

There is one phase of the government by injunction mania that the courts, both federal and state, seem to be seized with that is very disgusting to thoughtful people who love their country. The injunction is always to restrain the workingmen and never to restrain the employers, however high handed their actions. This one sided perversion of the individual powers of the judges is breeding a contempt for the courts and the law that will have a disastrous effect hereafter.

The workingmen are forced to the conclusion that the courts are controlled by the trusts and especially that all the federal judges are appointed in that interest and that a common man has no rights which these courts will respect. As long as the judges compel their orders to preventing disorder or used their power with moderation there was no complaint, but now they have carried it to the extreme and enjoin strikers from even persuading nonunion men from working and there is a vigorous protest from organized labor which must be heeded or before long revolution against the injustice will take the place of dissent.

Crop Shortage.

The agricultural department has at last discovered what was patent to every one else some time ago—that the damage to the corn crop by the drought will exceed one-fifth and probably amount to one-fourth of the crop, and the loss on other crops, such as potatoes and garden truck, will be very great. This will decrease the tonnage that the railroads will carry in the region affected, and those who toy with the ticker should bear this in mind in spite of the favorable reports emitted by the Wall street gamblers and the effort of the bull clique to keep up the price of stock.

Principles, Not Men.

Democrats need not worry about who will be their candidate for president. Send good delegates instructed for the principles you believe in, and the candidate will be forthcoming. As Mr. Bryan says: "The issues before the country are principles, not men. The anxiety of the administration organs to discuss men is based on the fear of principles."

Railroads and Farmers.

The small farmers in Texas thought they had discovered a way to circumvent the railroads by joining together and shipping their produce in carload lots, but the railroads refuse to let on the local rates, and the big shippers still have the advantage, and the courts are expected to enforce this discrimination.

TUB TRUTHS.

A DROP of ink will color a whole glass of water. It is an inch of yeast which makes a pan of bread rise, and a single cake of soap containing unabsorbed alkali can ruin a hundred times its cost in laces and fine embroidery. After all, it is wise to take such risks with common soap? Of course you can get along without Ivory Soap. So can a wagon without axle grease—but it goes hard.

PURPOSE OF THE TRUSTS.

Combines Plan the Overthrow of Organized Labor.

It is evident that the trusts are intent on the overthrow of organized labor. The steel trust has virtually disorganized the Amalgamated association and will doubtless complete the job at the next attempt. It is announced "officially" that the presidents of the coal carrying roads of the eastern states have refused to consider any proposals for a joint conference with the officers of the coal miners' organization. The great coal operators have decreed the death of union labor, as did the steel trust the death of the Amalgamated association. However, in doing this, the trust officials are cutting from under them the main support to their "right" to own the coal mines and the steel factories and the railroads. Having had demands which they considered even a conference with their employees, what is more natural than that these men should look for some other method of getting a hearing?

After a careful investigation of the ways and means they will learn a lesson from the employer—that of controlling the lawmaking and law-enforcing bodies of the country. That a majority shall rule is a principle which we admit theoretically as right. The employees are largely in the majority; hence when they learn, and they are being forced to learn, that they have the coveted power in their own hands to turn the machinery of government to their own advantage they will do it. And in doing this there will be no infringement of the rights of the minority—there will be no privilege or protection granted to one class of citizens which is denied to another, as is the case today.

PHILIPPINE TROUBLES.

The Civil Government Overridden by the Military.

The civil government in the Philippines which was established on Independence day to emphasize that a certain amount of freedom had been inaugurated and to carry out promises made to these Filipinos who surrendered, is a farce. It now appears the military claims full authority and have ordered the deportation of a civilian who on appeal to the supreme court—that the civil end of the dual government has set up—has been ordered released under a writ of habeas corpus. General Chaffee, however, holds that the court has no such power and is in fact a figurehead to please the Filipinos and fool the American people into believing that peace exists there and has appealed to the war department, which is through the president the real power under the extraordinary Spooner amendment.

The trouble arises from the fact that the government has been trying to carry water on both shoulders to be prepared to trace its authority to either source as legal exigencies may seem to require, with a view to meet the constitutional questions that are before the United States supreme court.

If the civilian can be deported by the military commander, there can certainly be no civil government in the Philippines, and the expensive one that has been set up is worthless.

SHIP SUBSIDY STEAL.

President Roosevelt May Not Recommend It to His Message.

The ship subsidy bill will not have such easy sailing in the next congress as its promoters have expected. It is quite possible that the steel will not be recommended by President Roosevelt in his message to congress, for the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald states that "Senator Spooner has been in consultation with the president respecting it and has fully stated the position of the west."

Among other things the senator is reported as saying that western Republicans are in favor of building up the American marine by discriminating duties—that is, by lowering the rates upon foreign goods brought in American ships.

That would be a legitimate remedy to aid the building up of the American merchant marine, but before indulging in the bill with all the details must be examined, for Mark Hanna and the ship subsidy schemers are experts at getting up bills that give away more than they seem to.

Trust Magnates Alarmed.

The sharp decline in the price of stocks, especially those called the industrials, but commonly known as the trusts, has brought to light the danger manipulation that the trust magnates have employed on the Stock Exchange to boost the price of stock so as to induce the public to buy at the inflated prices. The press reports account for the great loss in value by "dread of legislative attack and the general apprehension of overcapitalization." The Wall street sharps and the trust magnates evidently see the coming deluge that will wipe out some of the special privileges the trusts now enjoy.

No Excuse for the Steel.

Those Republicans who favor the ship subsidy bill should examine the report of the commissioner of navigation, which says 333 vessels were built in the United States during the three months ending Sept. 28. The excuse for the steel, that we must build up with a bounty the merchant marine, is thus officially shown to be nonsense.

Imperialism Is Expensive.

From the present outlook in the Philippines we may expect a call for more troops and more money. Imperialism comes high if we must have it.

LABOR'S HARD LESSON.

Repeating Daily For His Support of the Republican Party.

The voice of labor is losing its influence with the Republicans. The campaigns of 1896 and 1900 showed that the persuasive and alluring powers of Hanna were more potent than the fact of the trusts, Chinese immigration and other matters that the labor platform denounced. For this reason it is doubtful if the extension of the Chinese exclusion law will be passed by congress. Labor is calling for their exclusion, but "the best business interests, including the railroads, want the Chinese admitted." The more cheap labor the greater their profits. Chinese labor is not only cheap, but it is docile. It does not strike, but is satisfied with almost any conditions if the dollar a day is only promptly paid.

When workingmen aided in defeating the Democratic party at the last national election, they hung a stone about their own necks that makes it impossible for the Democratic party to save them at this juncture. They aided in giving the Republicans both houses of congress, and the hands of the Democrats are tied for the time being.

Labor, with many other people that also aided the Republicans, is learning a hard lesson that will cost it dearly for the mess of pottage that was promised it.

There are two ways in which they can now help themselves. By bringing all the pressure possible to bear on Republican members of congress who represent close districts they may force them through fear of being defeated to vote with the Democrats for the Chinese exclusion bill and on other matters in which they are interested. If this fails of success, by electing a majority of Democrats to congress next year they will lay the groundwork for a complete victory of the party of the people at the next national election.

stealing a stove from in front of and belonging to the Lima Couch Manufac-

At about dusk last evening two men,
each with a horse and spring wagon,

who lives in the Kell block and claims to have seen the theft, states that one man kept watch while the other one boldly lifted the stove into one of the wagons and quickly drove away. She reported her discovery to Wm. Helwig, manager of the firm who took immediate steps to bring about the arrest of the suspected Shaffer. This morning the prisoner tried to square matters with Helwig but the latter decided to let the law take its course. The hear-morning Mrs. Lester's son, Homer, several minor articles of wearing ap-

Quarantined on Account of Diphtheria.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Custer
Has the Disease in a Serious Form.

Yesterday evening a report was made to the health officer of a case of diphtheria at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Custer, 1115 east High street, and the house has been quarantined. The patient is the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Custer and the disease has taken on the form of membranous croup, the child's condition being reported as serious.

Until the development of the case mentioned there were but two other houses carrying the danger card, and in both the patients are well on the road to recovery. The Custer child is the only new one to be added to the list, and the condition of affairs is encouraging considering that recent exposures have not developed anything like an epidemic.

J. H. Cain, who was so badly injured in the explosion at the pump station
just east of the city, about two weeks ago, has been removed from the hospital to his home at 514 north Elizabeth street, where he is slowly improving.

Matty Matthews Won.

Buffalo, Oct. 28.—Matty Mathews
of Brooklyn got a decision over Tom Coughlin of Dunkirk, at the international Athletic club. In the fifth round of what was to have been a 20-round bout, Coughlin started in with his usual slashing style, but Matthews brought him to a sudden stop in the fifth with a right on the jaw. Coughlin, all but out, clinched, and showing Matthews against the ropes, struck the Brooklyn man several times before they could be separated. The referee stopped the bout and gave the decision to Matthews.

The Dead Came to Life.

New Albany, Ind., Oct. 28.—While an undertaker was preparing to lift upon a cooling board the supposed dead body of Mrs. Julia Bullock of this city, Mrs. Bullock revived. She had been pronounced dead by a physician and had lain for several hours with no apparent sign of life. Mrs.
Bullock is still alive.

Conditions in Brazil.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Charles Page
Bryan, United States minister to Brazil, called at the state department to pay his respects to Secretary Hay. He has returned to the United States on leave for the first time in two years, and is going from Washington to his home in Chicago. Mr. Bryan reports a considerable improvement in the financial conditions in Brazil, and says the entire country is tranquil.
Aboard the United States steamship Atlanta he personally visited 19 governors of Brazilian states. This cruise took the Atlanta into many ports where a United States man-of-war had never before been seen.

REWARD
Comes to Earl Bressler, of
This City.

Who Has Gone to Chicago to Accept a Good Position With the
B. & O.

Earl Bressler, who has been connected with the freight department of the Erie road for several years, has resigned his position and last night left for Chicago, where he will accept a position in the same department of railroad work with the B. & O.

Few young men in Lima enjoyed a greater popularity than Mr. Bressler, and while his many friends regret that a deserved promotion takes him away from Lima, they cannot help but rejoice with him in his good fortune, and wish for him every success in his new field of labor.

Want Shorter Hours.

Philadelphia, Oct. 28.—The skilled laborers in all the paper mills of Philadelphia made formal demand for a shortening of their workday from 72
to 65 hours a week, without reduction of pay. In a number of the mills the demand was refused, and in a few others was held under consideration.
In but one local mill was the demand of the men agreed to. When the mill owners refused the men went on strike, but only one mill was closed down completely.

FIGURES

Which May be Compared With Sidney

And Thus Settle the Dispute as to Which Team Had the Heaviest Men.

Captain Landick replies to the article in the Sidney News which was published yesterday, wherein the question of which team had the most weight was raised:

Dear Sir: I saw in your last issue a clipping from the Sidney News and found that the News credits our team with much more weight than the Sidney team. I wish to disagree, as captain Kelley told me before the game that his team weighed on an average of 145 pounds and that was a close estimate. He was of the opinion that his team would outweigh ours, so taking the best plan to prove my assertions, I give below the line-up of the team, and the weight of the individual players.

Killian 210, left guard; Rummel 149, right guard; Mackenzie 128, center; Cable 118, right tackle; Bowers 124, left tackle; Booth 120, left end; Klumph 122, right end; M. Landick, 125, quarter; Beeman 166, left half; Potter 135, right half; L. Landick 170, full back; J. Miller 122, sub; M. Reed 150, sub. The thirteen men weigh 1713 pounds, average weight 131 10-13.

Yours truly,

LOUIS LAUDICK,

Capt. Lima High School Foot Ball Team.

"AN AMERICAN GENTLEMAN."

"An American Gentleman," which comes to Fairport's opera house Thursday, October 31st, contains many new and novel ideas, with some of the most beautiful scenery ever gotten up for a production of this kind. While the play is strictly melodramatic and very sensational in the climaxes, the acting company is one beyond criticism. Headed by that sterling actor, Mr. William Benelli, the star part could not be in better hands. He will be remembered for the many clever parts he played while under the management of Charles Frohman. W. A. Brady and Jacob Litt. Miss Rose Stahl is the leading lady and will be remembered for her wonderful work the past two seasons in stock companies in the cities of Rochester, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Columbus.

The balance of the cast is equal in keeping, and makes "An American Gentleman" one of the best acted melodramas ever seen and it now comes in the second season of complete success.

LIMA

Is Put Down for a Place

In the League.

Fred Brown of Marion to Manage It.

Magnates Have Called Meeting at Mansfield for Nov. 10

To Discuss the Situation and Decide Upon the Circuit—Springfield, Canton and Zanesville Included.

The talk of an Interstate League for the season of 1902 still goes on, and the Marion Mirror throws some new light on the proposition, particularly as to Lima. Sterge Seals, who is the recognized head of base ball matters in Lima, is out of the city and could not be interviewed on the question, but if what the Mirror says is true, Lima has already been put down for a place in the league and will be under entirely new management. The article reads as follows:

Mr. A. J. Watts, of Toledo, Ohio, has been in communication with a number of managers in regard to forming a new Ohio Interstate League for the season of 1902. Mr. Watts has secured the co-operation of M. S. Hogan, of this city, who expects to have a team here and Mr. Fred Brown, who will put a team in Lima, Ohio. Mr. Watts will have a team either in Mansfield or Sandusky city.

The towns that Mr. Watts thinks will compose the new league are Canton, Akron, Youngstown, Zanesville, Newark, Mansfield, Findlay, Sandusky, Lima, Springfield and Marion. These cities will make a complete circuit and the new league ought to be a success.

Mr. Watts has called a meeting to be held at Mansfield, Sunday, November 10, where the circuit will be definitely decided upon. The greatest obstacle against Marion getting into the league is that so many other cities have made application that there is a possibility of this city not being admitted into the league.

Mr. Brown returned Friday night from Toledo, where he had a conference with Mr. Watts relative to the organization of the proposed circuit. In conversation with the Marion Mirror, this morning, Mr. Brown said that while he would manage the Lima team next year, he will do all in his power to secure Marion a place in the league.

It is hoped and confidentially believed, however, that Marion will be selected as one of the league teams.

WABASH

May Carry Out Carnegie's Idea

And Not Only Get Into Pittsburg but Build a Shorter Line to the Seaboard.

Indianapolis Journal: "Among observing railway officials an impression prevails that when the Wabash negle to build from Pittsburg to tide mountains and find its way to the Atlantic, carrying out the threat of Carnegie to build from Pittsburg to tide water. Through an alliance much of the way with existing lines, by means of an independent company to build from Pittsburg to Harrisburg, it would be an easy matter to reach tidewater. To establish this new through line 220 miles would have to be built, and it is believed that a shorter line could be formed from Pittsburg to New York than that of the Pennsylvania. 444 miles from Harrisburg over the Philadelphia and Reading to Allentown, and from Allentown to New York over the Central of New Jersey road, the distance being 180 miles, or sixteen miles shorter than the Pennsylvania's present line, and double track from Harrisburg to Jersey City, with low grade and in a high state of efficiency. When the Wabash gets into Pittsburg it is stated $15,000,000 would connect the several lines named. The Wabash in Pittsburg, gathering up the business of the Gould lines, which cover 14,745 miles, would furnish all the traffic the new route could really handle, and were this line established doubtless a strong transcontinental line would be formed, utilizing Senator Clark's Salt Lake and Los Angeles road, now being built, seventy miles of which will be opened to traffic on November 1."
